

NEW MOON IN LEO · FRIDAY, 10 AUGUST 2029

Taurus

This ritual is for home, family, and emotional roots.

The roots you are growing now will hold something larger than you can currently see.

PREPARATION

Face north. Move through the room you are in and remove what does not belong — a dish, a jacket, anything that creates visual noise — because the home you are calling in begins with the home you are tending now. Let the sound of soft rain or piano fill the air until the room feels more like a held space than a container. Pour a warm cup of chamomile or milky tea, hold it close to your chest for a moment, and let the heat settle into your sternum before your first sip. Close your eyes and picture the feeling of home at its most true — not a floor plan but a sensation, the specific quality of light and safety and belonging that you are building toward. Open your eyes only when that feeling has settled into your body like something remembered. The ritual begins now.

THE RITUAL

Light the green candle and place it at the northern edge of your space, acknowledging that stability and belonging grow from the ground up, starting exactly where you are.

Scatter a handful of rose petals in a loose circle around your candle, and as each petal falls, think of one person — living or memory — who is part of the foundation you carry inside you.

Take the rose quartz in both hands and hold it at the level of your heart, breathing slowly and deliberately as you feel the cool stone warm in your grip and softness and safety become the qualities you are building this moon cycle toward.

Speak aloud — quietly, as if to the room itself — one true thing about the home or family life you are calling in, something specific enough to recognize when it arrives.

Place the rose quartz at the center of the rose petals and rest your hands flat on the surface around them, pressing gently as though pressing a seed into earth, sealing roots and renewal into this New Moon in Leo.
