

NEW MOON IN CAPRICORN · FRIDAY, 4 JANUARY 2030

Pisces

This ritual is for friendships, community, and future goals.

Your future is not a solitary destination — it is a gathering, and some of the people who belong in it are already looking for you.

PREPARATION

Face south. Let the choral music begin before you arrange a single thing, because community has a sound before it has a shape. Tidy the space with generosity — make it a room where someone else might also feel welcome, even if they are not here. Pour a glass of wine or warm jasmine tea and hold it up briefly, as if in a quiet toast to something not yet arrived, then drink. Close your eyes and picture your circle as you want it to look — the specific faces of the people who see you clearly and show up faithfully, and the faces of the people you have not yet met who are already on their way to you — and feel the particular warmth of belonging to something larger than yourself. Open your eyes when gratitude and anticipation are occupying the same breath. What you give to this ritual, your circle will feel.

THE RITUAL

Light the sea green candle with both hands cupped briefly around the unlit wick before striking the flame, as a gesture of gathering — an invitation sent outward toward every person and possibility this Capricorn New Moon is moving toward you.

Hold the moonstone to the candlelight and look at its glow for a moment before holding it against your heart, feeling the cool stone warm slowly in your palm — a reminder that connection changes the temperature of things.

Steep or open jasmine — loose flowers, oil, or tea — and let its sweetness fill the room as you speak aloud three qualities you are bringing to your community and three qualities you are ready to receive from it, naming them as equal offerings.

Set the moonstone beside the sea green candle and scatter a few jasmine flowers or a drop of oil at the candle's base, creating a small altar to the future — to the friendships forming, the goals crystallizing, the version of your life that is built with others, not despite them.

Let the choral tones carry the closing as you sit with the lit sea green candle and write down one name — someone you have been meaning to reach out to — then snuff the candle, keep the moonstone nearby, and send that message before the week is out.

YOU WILL NEED

sea green candle

moonstone

jasmine

♪ uplifting ambient or soft choral tones