

NEW MOON IN ARIES · WEDNESDAY, 3 APRIL 2030

Pisces

This ritual is for money, income, and material security.

Security is not the absence of uncertainty — it is the steady work of building something real in the ground beneath your feet.

PREPARATION

Face north. Clear the surface before you with practical, unhurried hands — remove what does not belong, wipe what is dusty, and let the space feel genuinely stable, because material intention needs a solid surface to land on. Silence all noise that pulls you out of the present moment and into abstraction, because what you are tending here is real and specific and asks for your grounded attention. Pour something warming and nourishing — a rich broth, a dark honey tea, something with substance — hold it in both palms, feel its weight, drink one slow sip and let it remind you that your body already knows what real sustenance feels like. Close your eyes and picture your finances as a landscape: see the ground, feel whether it is firm or soft beneath your feet, and then picture yourself slowly, quietly building something there — a structure, a foundation, a store of something that will last through seasons. Open your eyes when the landscape in your mind has solid ground.

THE RITUAL

Light the sea green candle and watch the flame find its steadiness, letting it represent the consistent, accumulating nature of financial intention under this New Moon in Aries.

Place a drop of jasmine oil on your inner wrists and breathe it in slowly — letting its grounding sweetness soften any anxiety around money and replace it with the clear-eyed calm that practical abundance actually requires.

Hold the moonstone in your less dominant hand and speak aloud three specific, achievable financial goals for this lunar cycle — not wishes, but plans — each one concrete enough that you would know exactly when it had been met.

Write those three goals on paper with the moonstone resting on the page as you write, then fold the paper toward you twice and place it beneath the stone in front of the sea green candle as a physical commitment between your intentions and your material life.

Sit with both palms flat on the table, feel the solidity of the surface beneath your hands, and remain in that grounded posture for three full minutes — breathing slowly, letting the forest sounds hold you — before extinguishing the candle and carrying the moonstone somewhere you will encounter it each morning.

YOU WILL NEED

sea green candle

moonstone

jasmine

♪ deep forest sounds or steady low-frequency tones