

NEW MOON IN CANCER · MONDAY, 1 JULY 2030

Gemini

This ritual is for money, income, and material security.

Security is not luck — it is a current you learn to move with, and this night you are setting the direction.

PREPARATION

Face north. Tidy whatever surface you are working on until it is bare and honest — no clutter, no distraction, because what you are calling in deserves a clear landing place. Put your phone face down, close tabs, and let the room settle into its own quiet. Pour a cup of warm tea and hold it with both hands, feeling the solidity of the cup, the real and present weight of it. Close your eyes and picture money moving toward you in a way that is steady and earned — see the number in your account, feel the exhale of having enough, notice how your shoulders drop when real security arrives. Open your eyes only when that imagined ease feels like something your body actually believes.

THE RITUAL

Light the yellow candle and place it slightly to your right, where the eye naturally falls, letting its brightness stand in for the abundance that is already making its way toward you.

Set the citrine directly in front of you and press both palms flat on the table for a moment, feeling the surface beneath you, grounding the intention of real, stable, material increase into something as solid as your own hands.

Crumble a pinch of lavender between your fingers slowly, releasing its scent, and breathe it in three times — each exhale releasing a fear about money, each inhale pulling in the calm certainty of a life that is provided for.

Pick up the citrine and hold it in your non-dominant hand for the length of one slow, deliberate minute, focusing on a specific and concrete financial goal — not a vague wish, but a number, a date, a true intention.

Set the citrine down next to the candle and allow both to remain undisturbed until the candle burns low, then wrap the stone in the lavender and keep it near your workspace until the moon is full.

YOU WILL NEED

yellow candle

citrine

lavender

♪ deep forest sounds or steady low-frequency tones