

NEW MOON IN SAGITTARIUS · MONDAY, 11 DECEMBER 2034

Gemini

This ritual is about love, close partnerships, and meaningful relationships.

What if the love you keep reaching toward has already been reaching back — and what stands between you is only a frequency you haven't yet tuned to?

PREPARATION

Face west. Soften the room — lower the lights, fold away anything angular and demanding, and let the space breathe before you enter it fully. Silence your phone and let the quiet settle like fabric falling. Pour a glass of white wine or warm chamomile tea and hold it between your palms, feeling its warmth before you take a slow, intentional sip. Close your eyes and picture the relationship you are calling in or calling deeper — the quality of the silence between two people who understand each other, the feeling of being truly met — hold it until the image has texture and warmth. Open your eyes only when you feel genuinely soft and ready. The door is open.

THE RITUAL

Light the yellow candle slowly and deliberately, watching the flame find itself, knowing that clarity and warmth are the twin gifts you are inviting into your partnerships under this New Moon in Sagittarius.

Hold the citrine in both hands and call to mind the quality of connection you most need — not the person, but the feeling — and let the stone carry that frequency as it warms.

Crumble a small amount of lavender between your fingers and breathe the scent deeply, allowing your body to release the tension that makes real intimacy difficult, feeling your shoulders drop with each exhale.

Set the citrine directly in front of the yellow candle and speak aloud what you are genuinely offering to a partnership — not what you want to receive, but what you are prepared to bring — because real love is built on what is given freely.

Rest both palms flat on the surface before you, the lavender scattered near the flame, and close your eyes for a final breath, sealing this intention into the field of the new moon before you rise.
