

NEW MOON IN LIBRA · TUESDAY, 2 OCTOBER 2035

Leo

This ritual is for communication, learning, and the connections closest to your daily world.

Words are not just communication — in the right moment, spoken with the right intention, they are the architecture of a new reality.

PREPARATION

Face south. Clear the space before you of any papers or screens and make it feel like somewhere a good conversation could happen — open, unhurried, alive with possibility. Silence your phone fully, not just the ringer, so that the next minutes belong entirely to you. Pour a cup of bright, warm tea or a small glass of something that sharpens the senses, hold it between your palms, and take a sip that feels like waking up rather than winding down. Close your eyes and picture the exact quality of mind you want to move through the world with — the quickness of it, the confidence in a room when you speak, the pleasure of an idea clicking into place, the ease of a local connection that sparks into something real. Open your eyes only when your mind feels curious rather than cluttered. The ritual begins now.

THE RITUAL

Light the gold candle and speak one sentence aloud into the room — a single clear statement of what you intend to learn or communicate or build in the weeks ahead, letting the flame be your first witness.

Hold the pyrite in your dominant hand and feel the cool weight of it, letting it represent the mental clarity and confident expression you are calling forward under this Libra New Moon.

Light frankincense resin or incense and let its smoke rise freely through the space, clearing any residue of hesitancy or self-doubt from the air around your throat and mind.

Pass the pyrite through the frankincense smoke three times, each pass naming silently a different way you intend to show up more fully in the conversations and connections of your daily life.

Place the pyrite at the base of the gold candle and let them burn together as long as it is safe to do so, sealing the intention that your words now carry the weight of someone who knows what they mean.

YOU WILL NEED

gold candle

pyrite

frankincense

♪ light acoustic guitar or morning birdsong