

FULL MOON IN CANCER · SATURDAY, 15 DECEMBER 2035

Libra

This ritual is for career, ambition, and public life.

Ambition, when it comes from the deep and honest place rather than from fear, is one of the most beautiful things a person can carry — and tonight, under a full moon in Cancer, yours is asking to be seen.

PREPARATION

Face east. Let the room feel purposeful — not cold, but clear and uncluttered, like the desk of someone who knows exactly what they are doing and why. Silence every notification, because tonight calls for the kind of attention you give only to things that genuinely matter. Pour yourself something with gravity and pleasure combined — a glass of good wine, or a tea that took a moment to prepare — and hold it in one hand as though you are about to give a toast, feeling the confidence of that posture before you drink. Close your eyes and picture yourself in your public life as you most want to inhabit it: the room you walk into, the title, the work that carries your name and your full intention. Open your eyes when that vision sits calmly and solidly in the space behind your forehead. The ritual begins now.

THE RITUAL

Light the pink candle with a single, decisive strike, letting the act itself be a statement of the career and public life you are actively choosing, not waiting to be granted.

Place a drop or two of ylang ylang oil on your wrists and rub them together slowly, feeling the warmth of the scent open something in your chest between desire and confidence.

Hold the rose quartz in your writing hand and close your eyes, picturing the specific next step in your public or professional life — not the whole ladder, just the next rung, seen with absolute clarity.

Set the rose quartz directly beneath the pink candle's flame and write, on a small piece of paper, the title or role or achievement you are calling in — fold it once and tuck it beneath the stone.

Sit with both hands in your lap, breathe evenly, and let the Cancer moon do what it does: illuminate what is already there, already growing, already turning toward the light.

YOU WILL NEED

pink candle

rose quartz

ylang ylang

♪ minimal focused ambient or slow ceremonial drumming