

FULL MOON IN SAGITTARIUS · TUESDAY, 22 MAY 2035

Pisces

This ritual is for career, ambition, and your place in public life.

Somewhere between the dream and the delivery there is a single clear step that only you can take — this ritual helps you feel which one it is.

PREPARATION

Face east, because east is where things begin and what you are building here is a beginning. Stand before your ritual space and straighten your posture — not performance, just the physical signal to yourself that you are taking up the space your ambitions require. Silence everything that belongs to distraction and let the ceremonial music settle into the room like the first minutes before something important starts. Pour something clear and focused — green tea, cold water with mint, anything that sharpens rather than softens — hold the glass in both hands and drink one considered sip. Close your eyes and picture yourself visible: your name said aloud in a room, your work recognized, your direction unmistakable to the people who matter in your field — hold that picture without apology and let it become specific, detailed, real. Open your eyes when the ambition feels earned rather than borrowed. The ritual begins now.

THE RITUAL

Light the sea green candle facing east and let the cool green of its flame remind you that ambition fed by depth and patience is the kind that actually builds something lasting under the Sagittarius full moon.

Hold the moonstone against your sternum and breathe slowly, letting the stone's quiet luminosity reflect back to you the clarity and intuitive authority you carry into every room where your work is known.

Light the jasmine incense or place a few drops of jasmine oil nearby, and breathe its rich, deliberate sweetness as a signal that ambition is allowed to smell like pleasure rather than punishment.

Speak aloud — clearly, without softening — the title, the position, the creative work, or the public role you are ready to move toward, followed by one sentence describing what it will allow you to contribute to the world beyond yourself.

Place the moonstone directly in front of the sea green candle, let the jasmine continue to scent the air, and sit in the drumming or silence for five full minutes, letting the ritual close around the version of your career that has just been given its proper name.

YOU WILL NEED

sea green candle

moonstone

jasmine

♪ minimal focused ambient or slow ceremonial drumming