

NEW MOON IN PISCES · WEDNESDAY, 27 FEBRUARY 2036

Gemini

This ritual is for career, ambition, and public life.

Somewhere between where you are standing and where you know you are meant to be, there is a door that only opens from your side.

PREPARATION

Face east. Tidy your workspace or altar until it is clean and uncluttered — ambition moves better through open channels. Silence your phone completely and put it somewhere you cannot see it. Brew a strong cup of tea or pour a small glass of something clear, hold it in one hand, and drink one deliberate sip before setting it aside. Close your eyes and see yourself in the professional moment you are calling toward: what you are wearing, who is in the room, how your voice sounds when you are certain of your direction. Open your eyes only when that image feels less like a wish and more like a memory waiting to happen. The ritual begins now.

THE RITUAL

Light the yellow candle and place it directly in front of you at eye level if possible, so its light falls on your face — this is the light of visibility and clear professional direction under the Pisces new moon.

Hold the citrine in your writing hand and, with your eyes open and the flame before you, state your single most important career intention in one full sentence — not a wish, but a claim.

Pass a sprig or pinch of lavender slowly through the candle's warmth — close but not burning — to clear the mental noise that has been standing between you and the next move, and then tuck it beneath your citrine.

Sit with the citrine in your lap for five minutes of uninterrupted silence, letting the drumming or ambient sound anchor you, and allow one concrete action to surface — one thing you will do within the next three days.

Seal the ritual by placing the citrine on top of a written note bearing that one action, extinguish the yellow candle with a single breath, and do not move the note until the action is done.
