

FULL MOON IN AQUARIUS · THURSDAY, 7 AUGUST 2036

Capricorn

This ritual is for money, income, and the material security that makes everything else possible.

Security is not a small ambition — it is the foundation on which every other kind of freedom is built.

PREPARATION

Face north. Set the space with the quiet authority of someone who takes their material life seriously — clear the surface, place things squarely, let the room feel deliberate. Silence every notification and let the deep, grounded sound of the forest or low tones settle around you before you begin. Pour a cup of something earthy and warming — a dark tea, black coffee, something with weight to it — and hold it in both hands, feeling its solidity before you drink. Close your eyes and picture your financial life as you intend it to be: not extravagant, but stable, real, and entirely within your reach — the specific amount in the account, the steady rhythm of income, the feeling of not having to calculate every small decision. Open your eyes only when that picture feels less like fantasy and more like the next logical chapter.

THE RITUAL

Light the dark green candle and let it sit before you like a lantern in a long, steady corridor — its flame is your focus on material wellbeing as a legitimate and primary goal.

Hold the black tourmaline in your dominant hand and feel its dense, grounding weight — breathe into it all the financial anxiety, scarcity thinking, or money fear you have been carrying, and let the stone's density absorb it.

Apply or place a few drops of cypress oil near the candle or on your wrists, and breathe its clean, resinous strength in slowly, letting it sharpen your resolve and your relationship with real-world resources.

Write down, plainly and specifically, the income or financial condition you are calling in under this Aquarius Full Moon — not vaguely, but in real numbers or concrete terms — and sign it as though it were a contract with yourself.

Place the black tourmaline on the paper before the dark green candle and let both remain through the night, the stone standing as the immovable, grounded anchor of your financial intention.

YOU WILL NEED

dark green candle

black tourmaline

cypress

♪ deep forest sounds or steady low-frequency tones